WAR'S END WILL BRING ARMY OF 20,000 AND GREATER NAVAL STRENGTH HERE SAYS STRONG

Commander of Hawaiian Department, as He Leaves for Mainland, Predicts Full Army Division Will Ultimately Be Located Here—May Command Training Camp

Twenty thousand or more men in the army on Oahu when the war is over, and a navy strength increased many times over the present is the prediction that Brig-Gen. Frederick S. Strong made today shortly before he sailed for San Francisco.

"Hawaii will see a full division of the army here immediately upon the close of the war. This is absolutely certain," said Gen. Strong. The present growth is indicative of what the future holds for you here."

Shortly before leaving headquarters Gen. Strong made the rounds of offices and paid good-by calls in his big-hearted way to those with whom he has been so closely associated during his stay here. Officers, clerks and enlisted men all came in for the handshake and the word of farewell greeting.

"I regret sincerely to leave the work here at this time," said the general. "Mrs. Strong is accompanying the general to the mainland. So far he has had no word of his next assignment, and probably will have none before reaching San Francisco. It is believed by officers at headquarters that he will be given command of one of the big training camps."

The general said today that he has had no word from Washington on the liquor situation for Hawaii, but he believes the regulations which have been prepared there regarding the selling of liquor about military posts may be expected on any mail. For the first time in the history of the Hawaiian department there were five general officers in Honolulu today. These were Maj-Gen. John F. Morrison, Brig-Gen. D. C. Shanks, Brig-Gen. Henry C. Hodges, Jr., Brig-Gen. Charles G. Treat and Gen. Strong.

Officers of the Hawaiian department who sailed today on the transport include besides Gen. Strong, Col. R. C. Crockett, Maj. John F. Curry, Maj. R. E. Langan, Col. Samuel L. Faison, Capt. C. N. Steere and Lieut. Louis A. Beard, aide to Gen. Strong. Lieut-Comdr. Arthur C. Gresham of the Pearl Harbor naval station was also a passenger. Eighty-four troops from the Hawaiian department are on their way to the mainland.

GEN. TREAT ASSUMES HAWAIIAN COMMAND

At noon today, Brig-Gen. Charles G. Treat assumed command of the Hawaiian department, Brig-Gen. F. S. Strong leaving at that hour and Gen. Treat being next in order of seniority. Gen. Treat stated upon assuming command that he will also retain command of the 1st Hawaiian Brigade, Schofield, though Gen. Henry C. Hodges, Jr., will have command of the post. The position of brigade commander is held by Gen. Treat through war department orders and cannot be relinquished until others have been received effecting a change.

BOOZE GETS MUCH BLAME FOR EAST ST. LOUIS RIOTS

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 6.—One-tenth of the population of this country is made up of persons of negro blood, and loyalty of this portion of our population, in the present crisis, is essential to our success, said Senator Thomas yesterday, in the course of his speech on the food control bill, before the senate for debate. The Colorado senator referred to the recent race riots in East St. Louis, where there exists an admitted labor shortage. The whites of that city refused to permit negroes from the South to be brought in to supply the deficiency in labor caused by the call of many white men for war employment or into the army. Senator Sherman, referring to the race riots in Illinois, blamed the disorders that had broken out in East St. Louis, costing many lives and resulting in large property damage, upon the saloons and upon the efforts of the agitators of the Industrial Workers of the World.

However, he said, the German submarines will force a victory before the Americans become a factor in the war.

CHINESE REPUBLICANS MAY ASK AID OF U.S. IN OVERTHROWING MANCHU REGIME SAYS DR. SUN

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service) TIENTSIN, China, July 6.—The plot to restore the Manchu monarchy seems a complete failure. Fifty thousand soldiers for the republican element are converging on Peking. Premier Tuan Chi Jui, who is commander of the "punitive expedition," says that tonight they will have 20,000 men between Tientsin and Peking. Large forces are coming up from the south.

The forces of Gen. Chang Shun, supporting the monarchy, are said to number 30,000. Gen. Tuan Chi Jui has sent an ultimatum to the royalists offering them favorable treatment if they will surrender. The northern leaders do not expect the aid from the foreign fighting, believing that Chang Shun's men will desert him as soon as the strength of the republicans is realized.

PEKING, China, July 6.—Fighting has broken out at Langfang, 35 miles southeast of Peking. Ching Shun's forces number 5000 and the republicans 20,000. The situation in the capital is serious today. Trains are carrying thousands of refugees to Tientsin. Four thousand imperialists have struck on the Hankow railway and are massed four miles from Peking, ready to oppose 10,000 republicans under Tsao Kuo, who is only 25 miles distant.

There is fear that the royalists, realizing the hopelessness of their position, will desert and start looting in Peking. TOKIO, Japan, July 6.—That the United States would be finally asked to render assistance to overthrow the new Manchus emperor and to restore the Chinese republic is an emphatic declaration by Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the great Chinese revolutionary leader, whose efforts to secure for China the republican government were largely responsible for the establishment of the only republic in the Far East a few years ago.

The first Chinese president, who is now residing in Shanghai and engaged in the banking enterprise, is bitter in his denunciation of the restoration of the Manchus emperor.

"The Manchus emperor must be downed," declared the great Chinese leader today in discussing the Chinese situation, "even if we are compelled to pay dear sacrifices to accomplish our purpose." The aid from the foreign powers in overthrowing the monarchy are much desired and the appeal to this end might be made, in the first place, to Japan, our neighbor. If Japan ignores our urgent cry for help, then we might ask the United States for the needed assistance. The sincerity on the part of the American president, Mr. Wilson, to see this nation maintained as a sister republic gives us ample reason to call upon the United States for the help needed."

Contrary to the wish of Dr. Sun, Japan decided not to interfere in the present Chinese crisis. This became officially known here today when Viscount I. Motono, the Japanese minister for the foreign affairs, appeared before the house budget committee of the parliament, now in extraordinary session, and announced the government's policy toward China, in which he declared that "Japan is determined to keep her hands off China absolutely."

Indictment Of Ex-Broker Is Sought Here

City Attorney's Office, Sheriff and Detective Captain Active in Running Down Hart, Now Charged With Defrauding Honolulu Investors in Stocks

(Associated Press by U. S. Naval Communication Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 6.—Lionel Hart was arrested here today. He declines to talk when questioned as to the charges against him.

Embezzlement of a sum approximating $10,000 is the charge upon which City Attorney Arthur M. Brown this afternoon expected to ask the territorial grand jury to indict Lionel R. A. Hart, former mining and industrial broker at Honolulu, representing Charles A. Stoneman & Co. of New York, who has been arrested by the chief of police of San Francisco.

Hart's arrest in San Francisco was the result of information forwarded to the coast city by Sheriff Charles H. Rose, acting under instructions from the city attorney's office. To face trial Hart will be brought back to Honolulu by Arthur McDuffie, captain of detectives, now in California on a vacation.

Following his marriage to Miss Juanita Beckley, Hart left for Japan with his wife early this year. A few days ago Mrs. Hart passed through Honolulu on her way to San Francisco on the last Nippon Maru, traveling alone. She insisted she did not know Hart's whereabouts. She has not yet reached San Francisco.

The city attorney's office is of the opinion that Hart, sending his wife to San Francisco via Honolulu, left for the coast city by a northern steamship route. It is understood that Hart's actions in Japan have been closely watched at the instance of the local authorities.

A report that McDuffie had gone to the coast for the purpose of bringing Hart back here was denied by the city attorney's office today. Attorney Brown says that news that Hart was in San Francisco did not reach here until after McDuffie had left here. Hart's alleged victims are said to be local persons who bought stock in corporations, mining and industrial, that Hart represented while in the islands.

Following Hart's sudden departure for the Orient, it was reported that his irregularities amounted to a sum much larger than $10,000, the amount involved in the charge which will be pressed against him.
